

MIDWIFE OPPORTUNITY

PORT HARDY AND PORT MCNEILL, BC

First Nations Health Authority has one contract position available for a midwife in north Vancouver Island, serving Midwifery clinics in Port Hardy and Port McNeill and local indigenous communities. The contract position includes funded clinic space, a MOA, and some funding for local work-related travel. The role includes provision of clinical midwifery care and non-clinical work, including collaboration with a team of social workers and nurses to support families and outreach to local First Nations communities.

Northern Vancouver Island is accessible via major transportation networks or road, air and water, and serves as the gateway to the fast-growing Central Coast and Prince Rupert.
