

Are you ready to bring your midwifery skills to the coolest town by the bay? The Midland midwives are looking for that magical unicorn 🦄 who wants to come and work with us! We're all about empowering families, building community, and supporting each other (midwives and clients alike).

What we're offering

- Start date: The ideal candidate is available for orientation in January and call in February 2025. However, other start dates can be accommodated.
- Flexible Caseload – Full time (366 BCC) is preferred, but we can adjust to suit your lifestyle and goals. Our call teams are currently a mix of full- and part-time.
- Call Schedule Freedom – Prefer primary care, shared care, or want to introduce us to a new and innovative way of doing things? We're open to it! We're all about flexibility, and we want to find a rhythm that works for you.
- Team Vibes – We're all about collaboration, laughs, and lifting each other up. Seriously, our team rocks!
- Bay Life – Do you like sunshine, water views, and friendly small-town living? Well, you're in luck because Midland is beautiful year-round.

Perks

- Work-Life Balance – We believe midwives deserve to have fulfilling work AND a life outside of it. Our policies are designed to support your well-being, including flexible scheduling and manageable caseloads.
- A team of midwives who are just as passionate about client care as they are about whimsical memes.
- Hospital privileges at our local Level 1B hospital, where we support more than 50% of the births. You'll be an integral part of the birthing community!

- Three extended clinics that are open to all in the community: Postpartum Clinic to ensure new parents are thriving, Sexual Health Clinic for important reproductive care, and an Early Pregnancy Assessment Clinic to support early pregnancies with all the care they deserve.
- The Menwaasgejig Indigenous Midwifery Program, offering culturally safe care for Indigenous families, is another incredible service we're proud to provide. Indigenous midwives and those with experience with and a passion for serving the FNMI community are especially encouraged to apply.

Who You Are

- A Registered Midwife passionate about providing compassionate care in an underserved area
- A team player with a great sense of humor (because who doesn't need a good laugh during those 3 a.m. calls?)
- Open to collaborating, creative problem-solving, and stretching the boundaries of what midwifery can look like
- Bonus Points if you speak French! ☕ Midland is home to a vibrant French-speaking community, so if you're bilingual (or working on it), you'll be a real asset to our team.

Apply Now & Join the Fun!

If this sounds like your vibe, send us your resume (+/- a funny meme), or reach out to talk more about what you're looking for.
